To whom it may concern,

I am pleased to recommend Sarah McQuaid for school assemblies and presentations. She did a wonderful assembly for our school of third through six graders. Our school is highly diverse and has students from all over the area. The students really enjoyed her acoustic guitar and voice techniques. She sang songs and interjected discussion answering questions and sharing with the students. She even had the students singing along with her as she gave history and talked about folk music.

She is a talented artist that takes the time to answer all questions children can ask and meets expectations with answering their curiosity. She was fun, informative and brought traditional folk music to life.

Sarah McQuaid is an excellent performer that can help students understand Appalachian folk songs, Elizabethan ballads; music of the 30's and even her own original music.

Sincerely,
Bret A. Anderson
